- a Black accents in the form of leather armchairs and sofas contrast with the otherwise warm colour spectrum.
- b Instead of pictures, the outline of the human body is repeated as a decorative pattern, representing the holistic medicine practised here, which is entirely patient-focused.
- c A solitary light sculpture in the form of a tri-pole luminescent cube illuminates the entrance area.

- 1 Reception
- 2 Coat-rack
- 3 Treatment room
- 4 Infusionsraum
- 5 Patient toilet
- 6 Staff lounge

The small single-doctor practice is approached by a short, off-centre entrance corridor, giving on to five rooms in total. All rooms needing natural light have windows. Next to the joint patient and staff toilet is a staff lounge. There are no designated areas for administrative, storage and cleaning purposes.
